2024 OneLegacy Floragraph Application

As in years past, OneLegacy is proud to honor donors with memorial floragraphs on the 2024 OneLegacy Donate Life Rose Parade Float. Through an open application process, OneLegacy is pleased to offer the many donor families we serve an opportunity to formally inform us of their interest in having a loved one honored with one of OneLegacy's sponsored floragraphs.

The Donate Life Float Campaign

The OneLegacy Donate Life Rose Parade Float campaign, a national program of the OneLegacy Foundation, is supported by more than 100 official sponsors, including organ and tissue recovery organizations, tissue and eye banks, hospitals, transplant centers and affiliated organizations. Prior to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Donate Life float was seen by an estimated 700,000 parade spectators and more than 45 million U.S. television viewers. Millions more heard about the Donate Life mission in broadcast and print news stories about the float and its participants. The 2024 Rose Parade, themed Celebrating a World of Music: The Universal Language, will take place on Monday, January 1, 2024 at 8:00am PST.*

Application and Selection Process

The application form, consent form, requested high quality photo (headshot) and biography of the donor must be received by OneLegacy Donor Family Aftercare by Friday, July 14, 2023. The application may be emailed to jservin@onelegacy.org or mailed to the address below, Attn: OneLegacy Family Support Services. Families chosen to be honored with floragraphs will be notified by August 11th, 2023. Families will be selected based on a range of criteria including volunteer service to the community and/or OneLegacy Ambassadors Program; past participation in Donate Life Rose Parade Float decorating and/or the OneLegacy Donate Life Run/Walk; and participation in OneLegacy's Family Support Services program (see Expectations and Requirements). We will also ensure that honored donors represent a range of ages, ethnicities, regions, and organs and tissues donated.

Expectations

The opportunity for your loved one to be honored with a floragraph comes with several expectations. In particular, floragraph honoree families are commonly the subjects of media stories in the weeks leading up to the parade. Thus, all floragraph families are expected to be available for media interviews as opportunities arise. In addition, families have the opportunity to decorate their floragraph during one of the floragraph decorating shifts and attend special OneLegacy Donate Life events in Pasadena from December 30* through Parade Day, January 1, 2024.* One hotel room in Pasadena* will be provided from December 30th* through January 2, 2024* to ensure families' ability to participate in the special events.

*Subject to change

Requirements

- Families applying for the floragraph opportunity must have authorized donation on behalf of their loved ones or supported their loved one's donor designation at least one year prior to the application being completed (before July 14, 2022). Honorees need not have necessarily had their organs, eyes or tissues recovered or transplanted.
- Families applying for the floragraph opportunity must have the Consent For Use of Name and Likeness form signed by any and all next of kin who authorized donation.
- Floragraph family members should be comfortable speaking to the media and must report to media opportunities on a timely basis. On occasion between December 26* and January 1st*, television morning shows require reporting to the studio or locations at a very early hour.
- The family must provide a high-quality headshot of the Honoree to serve as original artwork for the floragraph (min. size 4" x 6" at 300dpi). The image will be enlarged to fill the 12" x 16" floragraph canvas, so a higher-quality original image is necessary for best results.

All About Floragraphs

Continuing a tradition that began in the 2008 Rose Parade, the OneLegacy Donate Life's 2024 float entry will feature many "floragraphs" of organ, eye and tissue donors from across the country.

What is a floragraph?

A floragraph is a portrait created with floral materials. The Donate Life float's floragraphs are strictly memorial in nature.

Who is featured on the Donate Life floragraphs?

Donors are defined as deceased donors of organ, eye and/or tissue (regardless of the outcome of donation). The float's Floragraph Sponsors select the deceased organ, eye and tissue donors who are depicted on the portraits.

How large are the floragraphs?

The size varies yearly depending on the float design. This year the floragraphs are approximately 12" x 16" oval.

How are floragraphs created?

Photographs of the honored donors are converted into posterized images, which are printed and applied to a foam or wood backing. The portraits are then decorated in a method akin to "color by number". Donate Life volunteers experienced in the art of decorating floragraphs guide families or selected volunteers, many of them donor family members or transplant recipients, through the deeply meaningful process of bringing the floragraph portraits to life.

How do floragraphs inspire people to donate life?

The donors and families honored with floragraphs have been the subject of hundreds of news stories capturing their families' meaningful participation in the Rose Parade. Together with the Donate Life float's riders and walkers, the floragraphs are the centerpiece of the national media campaign surrounding Donate Life's annual Rose Parade float entry.

Example of an Honoree Biography

A biography is required for every honoree therefore we have included a sample below for your reference. If selected, the full biography will be featured on each individual honoree's page in addition to an edited capsule version when featured with other honorees.

John Patrick O'Laughlin was passionate about life. His family recalls a hardworking, honest, loyal man with a fun sense of humor ... the trickster and firecracker in the family. Anything he did became a passion, including serving the USA, enjoying his Ford trucks and Mustangs, teaching sailors and Marines how to care for F14 and F18 jets, dancing competitive country western, and just having fun with family. This devoted father and husband loved it all.

During nearly 34 years of active duty in the Navy and then the reserves, John saw the world stationed aboard ships including the USS Enterprise, Ranger and Forrestal. His numerous awards included the Navy Humanitarian Service Medal and recognition for tours of duty in Desert Storm and liberating Kuwait.

Despite having open-heart surgery several years earlier, John continued to make a difference as a Naval contractor. Three days after returning from a routine 6-month deployment to Saudi Arabia, this active 61-year-old died suddenly and unexpectedly from a stroke. His family knew his wishes. He had always said, "When I go, donate my organs to those who need them. When I am gone I won't need them and someone else will."

While he wouldn't consider himself a hero, John's family and friends do. So do the two people who can see because he was a cornea donor, the nearly 50 people he helped heal as a tissue donor, and the three people whose lives he saved as an organ donor, including a kidney recipient at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center in Bethesda, MD. (Through the Department of Defense Share Program, military donors in San Diego can designate a kidney to save the life of someone on the waiting list who is active duty military, a retiree or dependent.)

John O'Laughlin's family also knows this long-time mariner would have loved sailing on the Donate Life Rose Parade Float catamarans dedicated to teammates.
